The authors wish to make the following dedications:

Theodore Tulchinsky – to my wife and family: Joan, our children (Daniel, Joel, and Karen), and their children (Guy, Noa, Amir, Ariel, Jonathan, and Or), as well as the many family, friends, colleagues, organizations, and students who encouraged us in this work.

Elena Varavikova – to my family Inna, Tatyana and Natalya, to the great friends and colleagues: Dean David Carpenter, David Momrow, Dr Harvey Bernard, Thaisa and Charles Beach, Irina Volguina, Professor Michael Reich, Dr Halfdan T. Mahler, Dr Margaret Chan, Professor Tamara Maximova, Professor Vladimir Starodubov, and many wonderful people who inspired and helped through the life of this book.

We jointly dedicate this book to all those who sustained us and contributed to its development and its translations into many languages. We also want to add a dedication to all public health workers, current and future, and to the improved health of all, particularly the poor and needy in all parts of the globe.
